

Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage highly recommends that all buyers obtain home inspections. The following is taken from a listing of American Society of Home Inspectors that work in the Milwaukee area. We do not recommend any inspector, but merely are listing these as a courtesy to you.

Anyone accepting this list agrees to hold Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage and its agents harmless from any action involving these inspectors.

The American Society of Home Inspectors (ASHI) was formed in 1976 as a non-profit professional society to give home inspectors formal guidelines when performing a home inspection. ASHI has developed a professional Code of Ethics, a Standards of Practice and a testing process for all members of the Society. Only those inspectors who have met these requirements are allowed to display the ASHI logo.

All inspections performed by ASHI members must meet specified minimum requirements as set forth by ASHI's Standards of Practice. Most major relocation companies select ASHI inspectors and HUD has recognized ASHI inspectors as meeting the requirements necessary for all FHA and VA inspections of existing homes.

In addition to the inspectors listed, ASHI home inspectors can be found in the yellow pages under home inspection services or online at www.ashi.org.
